The idea was brought to the town board by residents, which lead to the investigation of information. The meeting is being held to discuss if it is worth moving forward. There would need to be petition with 51% in favor to move forward.

Questions from the public

If part of a private line are they required to hook up to the new line? The answer was yes the private line would no longer be available.

Is it recommended to have water in case of fires? Yes, it is recommended.

Would a meter pit be required for each hook up? No, not unless you are more than 300ft. from the road.

If an individual owns a vacant lot would they be required to pay their portion of the debt? Yes, the cost is broken down by tax parcel numbers, which means each parcel is billed. If you own more than one parcel you will be billed per parcel.

Could the farmers create their own water district? Yes, it is possible.

Residents who owns a cow farm is very limited by water.

Which side of the road will it be on? It is too soon to tell and it may even switch at some point.

What is the timeline once the project has begun? It is estimated to take about 45 days.

Based on those in attendance it was about a 50/50 split of those for /against. Supervisor Eric Peters would like to draw up boundaries and get a petition together. Each tax parcel will get one vote.
