Fall 2006

Of the four seasons, fall has always been to me the one which most vividly reveals our rural, agricultural character. I have always thought of this time of year as “harvest” time and it is certainly evident as we drive throughout our town. According to the Cornell Cooperative Extension – Monroe County, apple lovers will be pleasantly surprised this year, as the local apple crop maybe one of the best on recent record in terms of quality and quantity for our region. A large amount of our locally produced fruits and vegetables will be sold at local farm stands, bazaars and super markets. Be sure to take full advantage of the wonderful crops that our Hamlin-area farmers produce and stock up on these fresh fruits and vegetables while they are fresh and available.

Speaking of our rural character, the final draft of the Town’s Comprehensive Master Plan (CMP) is close to completion. I hope to have it available for your review and comments by October. As you will see, our number one goal is to seek to retain our rural character and heritage and maintain an overall quality of life associated with a small-town atmosphere in a country environment. It is one of eight goals, which have been derived through the lengthy, ongoing planning and development process and which the residents, who dedicatedly contributed to constructing the plan, view as the most significant issues involved in land use in the Town over the next ten years. The Town Board holds a CMP workshop on the third Tuesday of each month at 6 pm in Town Hall. The workshop is open to the public. Once consensus is achieved on the final draft, a series of public hearings and information sessions will be held for more formal public review prior to the plan being considered for approval by Town Board. Dates of the public hearings will be posted on our website and as legal postings in the HAMLIN-CLARKSON HERALD.

One of our ongoing objectives is to make Hamlin an attractive community in which we take pride in our property and appearance. Success in this area starts at the individual level. I commend the majority of our residents who take pride and make the effort to properly maintain their property. In conjunction with our October 23 fall brush pick up effort (see article inside), I ask for a “community effort” where everyone makes a special effort to tidy up their property and adjacent road sides for the fall. I’ve asked BJ Maier, our Code Enforcement Officer, to concentrate on abandoned or unlicensed vehicles. He is traveling neighborhood-to-neighborhood and leaving notices where violations are noted. The notice provides a 10-day grace period to either eliminate the violation or contact him with a plan of action. If nothing is done within the 10-day grace period, a formal violation notice will be issued. I ask for everyone’s cooperation and effort in helping make Hamlin an attractive place to live.

As we begin to wind down from the busy activities of summer, you may find yourself considering ways to productively spend your “free time.” There is certainly no limit to the number of activities and organizations in the Town that could benefit from your voluntary services. By no stretch of the imagination is this a complete list and I apologize for those that I don’t mention, but the following are always in need of volunteers and new members: Hamlin Volunteer Ambulance, Friends of the Library, Fire Departments, Lifetime Solutions, Meals on Wheels, and all Scouting organizations. If you are interested in devoting some time to worthwhile endeavors, I highly encourage you to volunteer, whether with one of the groups above or another which interests you. We all benefit by your efforts. If you don’t know who to contact, give us a call at Town Hall and we can help you.

Finally, with school back in session and the days becoming shorter and shorter, I remind everyone to drive carefully, observe traffic laws and ensure that your fall season is a safe and enjoyable one.
